Information About the Corrective Distribution (To be Completed by Employer)

☛ Attributable-to-Matching Contributions (ATMs):

Are there ATMs related to Box 1 or 2 above?

No Yes Amount to be forfeited, if applicable $ _____

"ATMs" are employer matching contributions made on the employee deferrals that are now being distributed because the Elective Deferral Limit was exceeded. ATMs must always be forfeited, even if they are vested. Once forfeited, they may be used to offset future employer contributions or to pay plan expenses, as provided in your plan document.

Approval (To Be Completed by Participant and Employer)

I certify that the plan administrator has explained the terms and conditions of my choices. The information above is accurate and complete.

Participant's Signature: _____ Date: _____

I certify that I have explained the terms and conditions of the elections above.

I authorize Prudential Retirement to process the distribution of excess elective deferral contributions, plus earnings, indicated above. I understand that this distribution must be made on or before April 15 following the calendar year in which the excess elective deferral contributions were made. I understand that if Prudential Retirement does not receive this form by April 1 following the calendar year in which the excess elective deferral contributions were made, Prudential will not be able to distribute the amounts indicated by the April 15 mandatory return date, and:

1. The amount of excess elective deferral contributions may not be distributed from the plan until the participant experiences a distributable event, unless the excess is distributed according to a correction under the IRS Employee Plans Compliance Resolution System. Contact your Client Service Manager for more information.
2. The amount of excess elective deferral contributions must be included in the participant's income in both the year contributed and in the year eventually distributed.
